Renovator of the Year: A Lifetime Contractor

Greater Toronto, March 15, 2013 – A team that instills confidence while providing exceptional quality was the description most used by past clients of A Lifetime Contractor, the company named Renovator of the Year by the Building Industry and Land Development Association (BILD). The company received the coveted award on opening day of the National Home Show at the Direct Energy Centre at Exhibition Place.

A Lifetime Contractor is in its 66th year of renovating homes in the Toronto area and is led by President Sandra Baldwin, who followed her father's footsteps into the renovation industry.

"Sandra Baldwin and her team have gone above and beyond to professionalize the industry, not only by participating as a BILD member and in the RenoMark program, but by proving that homeowners can renovate with confidence when they chose to work with a professional renovator," said BILD Vice President of Membership and RenoMark program manager, Helen Batista.

Nominated by a past client, the A Lifetime Contractor team was described as "wonderful to work with" because the homeowner "knew [he] was in good hands." A number of past clients surveyed also noted that the company has an informative team committed to delivering exceptional quality on time.

The nomination was also accompanied by letters from the Dean and a faculty member of George Brown College's Centre for Construction and Engineering Technologies commending the company's support for the education of the future leaders in the industry, as well as Sandra Baldwin's dedication to teaching over the last four years.

The Renovator of the Year award is bestowed to a renovator who sets the standard for the rest of the sector in their leadership and commitment to customer service, as well as contributing to the overall image of the renovation industry.
