Gary Friend
President, CHBA

When it comes to Canadian homes, the future certainly looks to be getting “greener” by the year.

When it Comes to the Environment, We Are Getting the Job Done!

One thing we learned from the recent U.N. conference on climate change held in Copenhagen is how difficult it is for nations to agree on a way to tackle global environmental problems that are closely tied to economic well being.

In the developed world, energy drives our economies forward and supports our enviable standard of living. Transitioning to a lower-energy economy that can still deliver the same economic opportunities is a mammoth undertaking that will not be accomplished quickly or easily. Measurable progress will require a great deal of ingenuity, innovation and time.

Understandably, the developing world wants the same energy-driven economic growth that we, in the West, have long enjoyed. Such economic growth holds out the promise of lifting untold millions out of poverty, and providing them with the same choices and opportunities that we take for granted. How this can be achieved while also addressing climate change remains an enormous challenge.

Not surprisingly, the climate change talks in Copenhagen produced very modest outcomes. If there is a positive aspect to this conference, it is that we have a greater understanding of the real difficulties involved.

Canada came in for some harsh criticism at Copenhagen, some of it deserved, much of it rhetorical. Yet Canada has also produced some climate change success stories, and these also deserve to be recognized. The residential sector is one shining example.

Canadian Homes – an Environmental Success Story

Two years ago, the CHBA released its first Building a Greener Future report that examined the remarkable progress being made in improving the energy efficiency of Canada's homes. It showed that the residential sector was well on its way to delivering the level of greenhouse gas emission (GHG) performance called for when Canada signed on to the Kyoto agreement.

The Association has just released an updated version of this report, and our sector's impressive progress has continued. This report is available on-line at www.chba.ca or from your local HBA.

At the end of 2006, the latest year for which detailed data are available, total residential GHG emissions were almost seven per cent below the level released in 1990. This was in spite of 30 per cent growth in the number of homes over this period. And in 2006, GHG emissions from homes accounted for only 6.8 per cent of Canada's overall emissions — a remarkable achievement!

The new Building a Greener Future report lays out the many factors that have contributed to this performance, ranging from the widespread adoption of energy efficient building techniques by new home builders, to the tremendous improvements made to heating equipment, windows, and insulation levels in existing homes that are renovated.

A key point made in the report is that this success has come about, in large measure, as a result of market forces and the decisions of builders and their customers. The report cites federal government studies that show that, in 2005, improved energy efficiency was delivering savings that averaged $488 per household compared to 1990.

Canadian Homes: Green – and Getting Greener

The impressive environmental performance of the residential sector in 2006 has certainly accelerated since then. We have seen the introduction of regional green building initiatives that draw on the R-2000 Standard, including ENERGY STAR and Built Green. Recent research indicates that nearly 15 per cent of the new homes built in 2008 were enrolled in one of these programs.

When it comes to Canadian homes, the future certainly looks to be getting “greener” by the year. CHBA members should take great pride in this significant environmental achievement. All too often those who are ill-informed point to housing as an area where little environmental progress has been made, and more stringent regulation is needed. This is simply not true – and the facts make this clear.

Will homes in the future be more energy efficient than today? Undoubtedly. We have seen continuous improvement in this area for over two decades. No doubt it will continue in the years to come. Better yet, this substantial change is market-driven.

Today, the CHBA continues to be heavily involved in a pro-active manner, in a number of important initiatives that will provide new home builders, renovators, developers, and their customers with the affordable, proven technology and building practices needed to achieve even greater home energy efficiency in the future. Here are a few examples:

A Renewed R-2000 Initiative

Work is well underway towards a new, updated R-2000 Standard that will restore this great voluntary initiative to its proper leading-edge market position. Natural Resources Canada (NRCAN) has established an external Advisory Committee to guide this work, based on recommendations put forward by the CHBA. While final decisions are still some months away, there appears to be an emerging consensus that a 50% increase in the energy efficiency requirements for R-2000 homes makes sense. The CHBA is very pleased with the progress being made, and with the open and transparent approach being taken by NRCAN.

9 ► A “Next Generation” EnerGuide Rating System

The CHBA has also called for the development of a replacement for the current EnerGuide Rating System (ERS) that is more robust, reliable, accurate, transparent and which is governed by rigorous administrative procedures. As we work toward a more energy efficient future, both builders and consumers will want to know that the way we measure the energy performance of homes meets such standards.

The CHBA was very pleased when NRCan announced to the ERS its intention to pursue these improvements. It is expected that, early in 2010, an independent advisory committee will be formed to oversee the work toward a new “best in class” ERS. Again, the CHBA is very supportive of this NRCan initiative and looks forward to the results.

CHBA Manufacturers’ Council Green Website

Product and material manufacturers are key allies when new home builders and renovators look for greener options. The members of CHBA’s Manufacturers’ Council have recently launched a new website aimed at helping builders go green. Visit www.chbamanufacturers.ca/green to connect with this important resource.

Energy and Water-use Efficiency in the National Building Code

The Canadian Commission on Building and Fire Codes (CCBFC) is at work developing new energy efficiency and water-use efficiency objectives for the National Building Code. This is a process that CHBA has called for, and that we are monitoring very closely. Our national Code system has been undermined by ad hoc provincial adoption of energy efficiency requirements, most often without the sort of disciplined analysis and transparent process that is so important to the Code development process.

The CHBA expects that the CCBFC will do a much more thorough job and that the resulting Code requirements will be supported by more rigorous cost and technical analysis.

Cap and Trade Impacts

A wide range of GHG emission “Cap and Trade” systems are under consideration in North America. While the residential sector is unlikely to be included in any such regime, it is equally clear that there will be a range of indirect impacts on both builders and homeowners.

In order to understand these impacts better, CHBA has completed preliminary research on Cap and Trade, and the resulting report can be obtained in the Members’ Area of the CHBA website. Of greatest concern is the potential impact of Cap and Trade on some of our material manufacturer partners. Energy-intensive materials would likely increase in cost under a Cap and Trade regime. This is an area the CHBA will continue monitoring closely as Canada and the U.S. move toward some form of Cap and Trade or carbon tax in the coming years.

Supporting Green Community Development

Last year, the CHBA asked Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) to determine what gaps exist in practical, “how-to” information for new home builders and developers looking to implement environmentally responsible approaches to community development.

Preliminary research indicated that such gaps exist, but that more specific insight would be needed to determine how future research priorities should be set.

I recently wrote to a number of new home builder and developer members with experience in this area to ask for their help in identifying such current “green community” knowledge gaps. CMHC is now following up with these members to get their thoughts and insights. This industry input can help guide CMHC as it sets future research directions. I certainly appreciate the time and effort Association members are putting into this project.

Creating “Green Opportunities” for Members

EnviroHome is a key CHBA Initiative that helps R-2000 builders in their marketing efforts. I am pleased to report that TD Canada Trust, our longstanding EnviroHome partner, has recently renewed its support for EnviroHome. I would encourage any CHBA member builder who is planning an R-2000 project to contact our national office for full details. EnviroHome is a member benefit that can give your company a real “green” marketing boost. I urge you to take advantage of it!

It’s Time to “Pass the Hammer”

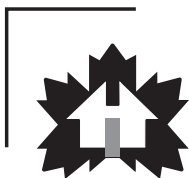

As the CHBA National Conference in Victoria, from March 5th to 7th, approaches so does the end of my term as your National President.

Before I “pass the hammer” to our Association’s next President, I want to extend my thanks to all CHBA members for the opportunity to serve you over the past year. We began last winter in Quebec City facing a very uncertain economic picture. And we have all had to roll up our sleeves and work incredibly hard since then to find opportunities, and manage risks, during a very turbulent time in the marketplace.

I am very pleased that economic conditions have begun to stabilize, and that signs of improvement are on the horizon. Canada has been well-positioned to weather this economic storm, and our industry has proven itself to be a powerful engine of economic recovery over the last year.

I am looking forward to continuing my work as Past President on the 2010 Executive. This is truly a unique organization and we draw our strength from the incredible number of dedicated volunteers involved at the local, provincial and national levels. Thank you for your hospitality and support, everywhere I visited, and for so many warm memories.

Deconstruct the Past with the Historical Codes On-line!

The historical editions of the National Model Construction Codes are now available through an on-line Web-based subscription service. You can now access the entire English and French Codes collections from the first edition in 1941 all the way to 1995 anywhere and anytime with the purchase of a single subscription (10 days or 1 year).

Used as models for virtually all building and fire regulations in Canada, these Codes are an indispensable reference for anyone needing to know what the requirements for a building were at the time of its construction. Searching the PDF files is easy, plus you can copy, paste and print extracts.

Get the full storey by also purchasing subscriptions to the 2005 Codes on-line.

*Just-in-time retrieval at your fingertips.

WE DIDN'T CHOOSE BROWN, IT JUST CAME NATURALLY.

© 2009 Knauf Insulation GmbH.

Knauf EcoBatt® Insulation doesn't look like any insulation you've ever seen, but that's because its natural brown color represents a level of sustainability we've never before achieved.

The color comes from ECOSE® Technology, a revolutionary more sustainable binder born from five years of intensive research.

Based on rapidly renewable bio-based materials rather than non-renewable petroleum-based chemicals, ECOSE Technology reduces binder embodied energy by up to 70%, and does not contain phenol, formaldehyde, acrylics or artificial colors used to make traditional fiberglass insulation.

EcoBatt Insulation combines sand, one of the world's most abundant and renewable resources, post-consumer recycled bottle glass and ECOSE Technology to create the next generation of sustainable insulation...naturally from Knauf.

CertainTeed MemBrain™ — The Smart Vapour Barrier

Introducing MemBrain™. The smart, breathable alternative to 6 mil. poly.

MemBrain is an innovative vapour & air barrier film that allows moisture to escape, keeping walls dry year round. When moisture penetrates the construction, it can condense on cold surfaces and accumulate in the wall cavity. Traditional 6 mil. poly doesn't breathe, so moisture gets trapped inside wall cavities. MemBrain is a smart alternative to polyethylene that is designed for use with efficient fibre glass insulation. It can be utilized as a vapour barrier or a continuous, interior air barrier. So when it comes to moisture, stop worrying, spec MemBrain, and relax.

Education & Training

Since 1927, CSA's Canadian Electrical Code Part I has provided the signature standards for addressing shock and fire hazards of electrical installations in Canada.

The 21st version of the Canadian Electrical Code was developed through the most extensive review ever, incorporating 108 revisions and 14 new interpretations.

By meeting these standards, you will help ensure the safety of those who rely on your expertise.

NOTICE OF SETTLEMENT

For Qualifying Owners of Property on Which Certain Organic Asphalt Shingles Manufactured by CertainTeed Corporation Are Or Have Been Installed

What Is The Litigation About?

In this lawsuit, In re: CertainTeed Corporation Roofing Shingles Products Liability Litigation, MDL Docket No. 1817, filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, the Representative Plaintiffs (representatives of owners of buildings on which certain CertainTeed Organic Shingles had been installed) alleged that the CertainTeed Organic Shingles are subject to premature failure and otherwise do not perform in accordance with the reasonable expectations of users. CertainTeed Corporation denies these allegations and asserts that the vast majority of the shingles are free of any defect and will last throughout the warranty period. In December 2009, CertainTeed and the Representative Plaintiffs reached a proposed class action settlement to resolve this dispute. Further information about this lawsuit and related Settlement is available in the Standard Long Form Notice, Settlement Agreement, and other documents located on the Settlement Website.

What Shingles Are The Subject Of This Lawsuit?

The shingles that are the subject of this lawsuit (called CertainTeed Organic Shingles throughout this Notice) are organic asphalt shingles manufactured from July 1, 1987 through 2005 under the brand names Hallmark Shingle, Independence Shingle, Horizon Shingle, Custom Sealdon, Custom Sealdon 30, Sealdon 20, Sealdon 25, Hearthstead, Solid Slab, Master Slab, Custom Saf-T-Lok, Saf-T-Lok, and Custom Lok 25. However, not all shingles marketed with these brand names were CertainTeed Organic Shingles. The Horizon, Independence, Hallmark, and Hearthstead brands were marketed in both organic and fiberglass formulations. CertainTeed no longer manufactures these CertainTeed Organic Shingles; all shingles sold after 2005 are fiberglass shingles and are not part of this Settlement. Although the settlement covers potential class members throughout the U.S. and Canada, the organic shingles in question were sold primarily in the upper Midwestern states and in the Canadian provinces north of those states. To find out if your shingles are CertainTeed Organic Shingles and for more information about whether you are eligible to file a claim, access the "Claim Eligibility" tab on the website shown at the end of this Notice, or call CertainTeed at 1-888-898-4111.

Who Is Involved?

To receive a payment from this Settlement, you must be a Class Member. You are a Class Member if:

- As of December 15, 2009, you were the owner of a home or other building in the United States or Canada, on which CertainTeed Organic Shingles were or had been installed; OR
- You owned such a building prior to December 15, 2009, but sold or transferred the building and at the time of the sale or transfer retained the right to make a claim for the shingles pursuant to a valid documented assignment; OR
- You settled a warranty claim with CertainTeed regarding CertainTeed Organic Shingles between August 1, 2006, and the Effective Date of this Agreement. If you previously filed a claim concerning your CertainTeed Organic Shingles in any court of law, and the claim was resolved with a final judgment, you are bound by that resolution whether or not that judgment was favorable to you; you do not qualify for any additional payment under the Settlement.

As a Class Member, you qualify for a payment only if you are an Eligible Claimant. This means that your shingles are damaged pursuant to the criteria set forth in the Settlement Agreement AND evidence shows that the damaged condition was caused by a product defect rather than improper installation or other causes that are not the fault of CertainTeed.

What Are The Settlement Terms?

In summary, this Settlement provides enhanced compensation for the removal and replacement of Organic Shingles during the warranty period. Each valid claim will be paid in accordance with the formulas set forth in the Settlement Agreement. The amount paid per claimant depends upon a number of factors such as (1) whether the claimant originally purchased the shingles; (2) the terms of the warranty; (3) how many damaged shingles are on the roof; (4) how long the shingles have been on the roof; (5) whether the shingles are damaged as defined in the Settlement Agreement; (6) whether the damage was due to a manufacturing defect or was caused by circumstances outside of CertainTeed's control; and (7) whether the claimant has already settled the warranty claim under CertainTeed's standard warranty. The amount paid per claimant is fixed as specified in the Settlement Agreement regardless of how many or how few claims are actually filed.

The attorneys will petition the Court for attorneys' fees plus reasonable expenses and costs. The amount of these fees and costs will not affect the payments to the Settlement Class set forth in the Settlement Agreement. The Motion for attorneys' fees, expenses and costs will be submitted to the Court no later than May 4, 2010.

If I'm A Member Of The Class, What Are My Legal Rights?

EXCLUDE YOURSELF. If you exclude yourself, you will get no payment, but you will be free to sue CertainTeed on your own about the claims discussed in this Notice. For instructions on excluding yourself from the Settlement, see the Standard Long Form Notice. The deadline for excluding yourself is May 11, 2010.

OBJECT. If you do not wish to exclude yourself from the Settlement but you think some aspects of the proposed settlement are unfair, you can write to the Court about why you don't like the Settlement. For instructions on objecting to the Settlement, see the Standard Long Form Notice. The deadline for objecting to the Settlement is April 26, 2010.

APPEAR AT A HEARING. If you do not exclude yourself, you can ask to speak to the Court about the fairness of the Settlement. The Court will hold a Final Approval Hearing to decide if the proposed Settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate on June 8, 2010. The Hearing will be held at 10:00 a.m. at the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, Byrne Federal Courthouse, 601 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19106-1797. For instructions on appearing at the Fairness Hearing, see the Standard Long Form Notice. The deadline for filing paperwork that will allow you to appear at the hearing yourself or through counsel is April 26, 2010.

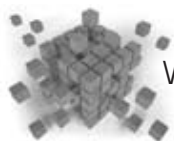

SEND IN A CLAIM FORM. If your shingles appear to be damaged prior to the expiration of their warranty period, send in a Claim Form. There are two Claim Forms: a Standard Claim Form and an Abbreviated Claim Form that can only be used by qualifying people who have already been offered a warranty settlement by CertainTeed for their CertainTeed Organic Shingles. Deadlines for filing the appropriate Claim Form vary according to your individual situation. For information regarding the Claim Form deadline that applies to you, see the Standard Long Form Notice. You will not receive a payment if you do not submit a Claim Form.

DO NOTHING. If you do nothing, you will be bound by the terms of the Settlement and give up your right to sue CertainTeed on these claims later. You will receive no payment if you fail to file a Claim Form by the deadline that applies to you as set forth in the Standard Long Form Notice.

How Do You Receive A Payment?

In order to receive a payment, you must timely submit a Claim Form. The due dates for filing a claim form can range from 90 days to 25 years from the Settlement Effective Date depending on your individual situation. To determine the due date for your claim form, use the Settlement Website or the other contact information below.

For More Information On Your Rights Under The Proposed Settlement, Including Access To The Settlement Agreement, Long Form Notices, And Standard And Abbreviated Claim Forms, visit www.CertainTeedShingleSettlement.com; call 1-888-898-4111; or write to CertainTeed Claims Administrator, 1400 Union Meeting Road, Blue Bell, PA 19422-0761. Rain, snow and frost will be no match for insulation products from Dow Building Solutions at the Vancouver 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games. STYROFOAM™ Brand Insulation is being used extensively in the 2010 Winter Games venues. Its inherent resistance to moisture means it maintains its insulation performance and high compressive strength year after year – even in exposed conditions. Athletes and spectators will enjoy peak performance during the Games. These world-class venues will enjoy peak energy efficiency for decades to come.

Killarney Ice Rink

STYROFOAM™ SM Insulation is used under the ice surface to help maintain consistent cold temperatures.
